OUR PADDLEFORD DESCENDANTS

Introduction

1773119

ABBREVIATIONS: b - born, d - died, m - married, dau - daughter, sis - sister, res - residence. These are used without periods.

The numeral in parentheses at the right of a name indicates the generation to which that person belongs. The first Jonathan is classed as of the first generation. If the reader keeps his eye on these numerals he will the more easily group any certain household or family.

The data in sections 1, 2, 3 and 5 are furnished us from the Enfield, N. H. town records by the town historian, Mrs. Nellie L. Pierce. The items of birth, death and marriage in section 4 were also furnished by Mrs. Pierce, although we had already found these in Child's Gazetteer. Mrs. Pierce wrote, "There are many other members of the Paddleford family in our records, but I have given you the ones most closely connected with your line."

In order to save space and because nowadays it is not uncommon for youths to attend high school, we have omitted mention of high school attendance. Of course, we could not expect pioneers to have had the opportunity for a high school course.

We wish to thank the considerable number of relatives who have sent us data regarding their negligent kin. We would especially thank Mrs. Faye Keller, who, although not a blood relative, has in many cases furnished us with information about persons in the Whitted branch who otherwise would have been missed. Irene Gove has given us practically all of the information we have about the Gove branch. But we cannot name you all. So please accept our thanks.

Mistakes? I hope not. But there are almost certain to be some. This has been too evident because, if in no other cases, there have some times been variances when the same information has come from different sources.

I

- 1 JONATHAN PADDLEFORD(1).
- 2 JONATHAN PADDLEFORD(2), son of above.
3. JONATHAN PADDLEFORD(3), son of above.
- 4 JONATHAN PADDLEFORD(4), son of above, b 1704; d Enfield, N. H. 13 July 1783; m first 26 May 1743 Mary Bicknell; m second 10 Feb. 1764 Mary (Marcy) Ferman. "Jonathan Paddleford was, if not the first, among the very first settlers. He came to Enfield with an adult family of sons and daughters from Ashford, Windham Co. Conn., where as early as 1765 he had purchased several pieces of land from the original proprietors under the Enfield Charter, and removed to Enfield between that year and 1772. He erected the second grist mill in town, afterward known as Follansbee's mills, on Moscoma river, near where the Shaker mills now stand."--- Child's Gazetteer of Grafton Co., N. H., 1709-1886," p. 251.

Referring to Enfield: "Settlement of the town was begun by Jonathan Paddleford, Nathaniel Bickford and Elias Bingham. The settlement progressed but slowly, however, for in 1775, fourteen years after the charter was granted, the population was only fifty, and probably there were not over ten male heads of families. In the following year only thirteen male adults signed the Declaration of Loyalty, none refusing. In 1790, eleven years after the close of the charter difficulties, the population had increased to 750, or about 100 families."---Same gazetteer, p. 243.

- 5 ABNER PADDLEFORD(5), son of Jonathan(4) and Mary Bicknell, b 1758 or 1759; d Enfield 13 March, 1846; m first Enfield 14 Oct. 1783 Dorcas Spencer of E. Haddam, Conn. She b 2 Jan. 1755, d 26 April 1799. Abner m second Lebanon 1800 Abigail Fetters.
- 6 WILLIAM PADDLEFORD(6), son of Abner and Dorcas, b N. Enfield, N. H. 9 May, 1787; d on his farm in Hannah twp., Henry Co., Ill. 10 Dec. 1858; m Hannah Hoit, dau of Thomas Hoit. She b near Laconia, N. H. 11 May 1790; d on same farm as above 14 Feb. 1881. She had at least two brothers, Benjamin and James S. The Enfield records show that William's wife was a Dole.

Adapted from Chapman Brothers' "History of Henry County, Ill.", 1885: William Paddleford, his wife, six children, two sons-in-law, and four grandchildren "in November 1837 left North Enfield, N. H. for Illinois. The journey to Whitefall, N. Y. was made with private conveyance and they went thence on the Champlain Canal to Troy, N. Y., where they took passage on the Erie Canal for Buffalo. They embarked there on steamer for Chicago, but because of stormy weather at this time of year they landed at Fairport and proceeded overland to Steubenville on the Ohio river, where they again embarked on a steamer and made their way to the Mississippi and up to Rock Island." It can be suspected that so far the family had no horses or conveyances of their own on the trip.

They passed a week on the island, then came on to Henry County. They made their first stop at Brandenburg's Inn at Dayton, just east of Colona. Here they passed the first year. The previous year, 1836, William Paddleford had made an advance trip to this part of Illinois and "had bought 160 acres of land in Henry Co., section 32 and 33, in the township there designated as 18 in range 2", which later was known as Hannah Township. In those days land could be bought direct from the U. S. government, at $1.25 per acre. The land office for those parts was at Galena, Illinois, 75 miles to the north, where payment had to be made. In 1837 there were only 58 voters in Henry County, Ill. No railroad came to Geneseo until 1854, the Rock Island R. R., from Chicago, ending at Rock Island. The rails were strips of steel one inch thick, 3 inches wide, spiked to planks. A spike would sometimes loosen, the rail would warp up and puncture a car floor. The train crew had to carry tools for track repair.

William built his house "of the primitive pattern common in those days and situated on section 32." The cabin was covered with clapboard and the lumber "of which the doors and floor were made was cut with a 'cohip-saw'." The family occupied the house for several years.

From Hannah Paddleford's obituary: She died at the home of her son, James H. Paddleford, aged 91 years..... Her maiden name was Hoit.... The farm was her home for more than 42 years. She has 4 children living, 30 grand, 44 great grand, and 5 great great grand children. Mr. and Mrs. Paddleford were while in the east Freewill Baptists. Here there being no such society they united with the Methodist church at the old brick church on the bluff in this town. While she had been deprived of attending through bodily infirmity, she never failed on Sabbath morning to take her bible and to retire to her room to read, meditate and pray. She possessed a strong mind and a very retentive memory. She was 9 years old when George Washington died and remembered attending a memorial service in his memory and the text used.

HANNAH PADDLEFORD-GOVE AND DESCENDANTS

- 7 HANNAH PADDLEFORD-GOVE(7), dau of William and Hannah Paddleford, b Enfield, N. H. 1813; d Henry Co., Ill. 1870; m N. H. 1832 David Poland Gove, son of Elija Gove. David b Enfield 3 Nov. 1813; d Henry Co., Ill. 23 March 1893. The couple came to Henry Co., Ill. in 1837 with the Paddlefords; they were farmers. (David Poland's ancestor John Gove came to America in 1655.) Six children: Sarah, George, Jeremiah, Milda, Amanda, Elija.
- 8 SARAH POLAND GOVE-STOWELL(8), oldest child of Hannah and David, b Enfield, N. H. 20 Feb. 1833; m Henry Co., Ill. John Stowell. Two sons:
- 9 Albert(9), son of above.
- 10 _____(9), brother of above.
- 11 GEORGE DENNIS GOVE(8), son of Hannah and David, b Enfield, N. H. 5 Jan. 1835; d Wichita, Kans. 12 Jan. 1912; m Rock Island, Ill. 17 April 1856 Sarah Catherine Bay, who b Posey Co., Ohio 25 Nov. 1838, dau of David and Sarah (Wiesel) Bay, his second wife, and d Wichita, Kans. 20 Nov. 1908. David and Sarah are buried in Hannah cemetery, Henry Co., Ill. David, who came from England, was in the Civil War, died in Fort Donald-son of measles. Children of George: Jeremiah, Jane, Sarah, Mark, Ora, Ruby, Irene, Carrie, Milda.

George Gove and his family farmed in Henry Co., Ill. until Sept. 1877, when with his family and his aunt Dorcas Whitted and her family (Dorcas was only five years older than George) they moved to Kansas. George and family settled in Harvey Co. nine miles east of Newton at Ebling, where they farmed. (No Gove descendants are known to exist in that area 1960.) In 1901 George and his son Mark built a two-story house on Fairmount, Wichita, Kans., where he, his wife and children

Mark, Irene and Milda lived. James F. Kinsey and his family lived about a block away and George and James spent many hours discussing the Paddlefords. Of course they recorded nothing. George wore his hair parted on each side and brought the ends together in the middle in a roll---quite distinctive.

- 12 JEREMIAH ABNER GOVE(9), first child of George and Sarah, b Henry Co, Ill. 5 May 1857; d Ford, Kans. 7 Dec. 1928; m Whitewater, Kans. 13 July 1884 Lucy Anne White, who b 1 July 1864. Children: George, Lucy, Edith, Ira.
- 13 GEORGE DENNIS GOVE II(10) first child of Jeremiah, b Harvey Co., Kans. 8 Aug. 1885; m 27 July 1910 Zona Hagaman of Ford, Kans. Children: Beryl, Glen, Florence, Laurence.
- 14 BERYL EVALINE GOVE(11), dau of above, b 11 Jan. 1911.

- 51 AMANDA GOVE-OLMSTEAD(8), sister of above, b Henry Co. Ill. 5 April 1843; d So. Dakota 2 Jan. 1892; m Henry Co., Ill. Henry Olmstead. The family moved to a farm, possibly a homestead, near Fulton and Alexandria, So. Dak. and not far from the homestead belonging to Cyrus and Calista Kinsey. The Kinseys lived there 1881 - 1887, and the diary kept by Cyrus frequently mentions the Olmsteads. Henry was a carpenter, built Cyrus Kinsey's barn and several houses, one for the father of John H. Dobson, present 80 year old justice of the peace at Alexandria. Answering our appeal to the postmaster of Fulton, a few old settlers have written that they knew the Olmsteads, but no one can tell what became of Henry and the girls. One of the girls taught in Alexandria and drove back and forth from home. The farm was bought by a Breems family, now all dead; a grandson Ed Doyle lives there. Children of Amanda and Henry: Charles, Minnie, Helen, Amy.

Her parents, Jacob and Julia (Dagget) Glenn, were the very first settlers in Henry Co., Ill. After an experience in farming, John began work for the Rock Island Plow Co., for which he worked 21 years, and was then associated with other manufacturers of agricultural implements. In 1911 became township collector; was a republican and prominent in politics. Res. 1439 Thirty-first St., Rock Island. His daughter lived with him. He was a widower for 35 years. See "Historical Encyclopedia of Ill. and History of Rock Island County" Vol. 2, page 1914. John once visited the Kinseys in Yakima, Wash. and the Blodgetts in Los Angeles on the same trip. In 1927 James F., Clara E. and Frank S. Kinsey visited in Geneseo, Ill. One day we went to Rock Island and visited John Nelson Huntoon, his son John and daughter Winifred. John Jr. took us over the three cities and we saw the John Deere plant, where James Frank's father once had his home and shop, before he sold out to John Deere. Later John, his son John and daughter Winifred visited the Kinseys in Geneseo and attended a lunch at the old Geneseo House which the Kinseys gave for relatives and old friends. John was feeble at that time. Children of John Nelson Huntoon: William, John Glenn, Frank J., Helen Emma, Winifred.

MARY STANLEY PADDLEFORD-HUNTOON AND DESCENDANTS

- 159 MARY STANLEY PADDLEFORD-HUNTOON(7), dau of William and Hannah, b Enfield, Grafton Co., N. H. 9 April 1921; d Moline, Ill. 21 Aug. 1888; m in her parents' home, Hanna TWP., Henry Co., Ill. 3 Nov. 1841 Jonathan Huntoon. He was b Hanover, N. H. 18 Nov. 1815, son of John and Rebecca (Calef) Huntoon and younger brother of Nathaniel. He d suddenly 5 July 1892. Jonathan came from N. H. in 1837 to Andover, Ill., where he was with his brother Nathaniel in a grist mill. In 1842 he went to Moline, where he managed a grist mill for Spence and Bears, then managed this and an additional mill for the same men. In 1853 he, with three others, engaged in the lumber and furniture manufacturing business on Rock Island, until the island was taken over by the U. S. government for an arsenal. About 1877 he became interested in the Moline and Rock Island Street Railway Co., became a member of the board, then its president. Was president of the First National Bank of Moline; for several years was supervisor and assessor of Moline twp. He was well known throughout a large territory. See his life history and his full page portrait in "Portrait and Biographical Album of Rock Island Co., Ill." 1885, page 577. Mary and Jonathan were Congregationalists, he a republican.

Frank S. Kinsey has a double photograph (for stereopticon use) of Jonathan, Mary, Hannah Paddleford and Johnnie Samuels (a boy), in Jonathan's large Victorian parlor. In 1927, when John Glenn Huntoon took J. F. and F. S. Kinsey over Moline and Rock Island, they saw this old Huntoon house---painted gray, plenty of gingerbread ornamentation. J. F. K. said it looked exactly as it did when as a boy he used to visit his Aunt Mary there. Address apparently 825 Fifth Ave., Rock Island. Children of Mary and Jonathan: Mary, Cecelia, Sarah, James, Minnie.

- 160 MARY AUGUSTA HUNTOON(8), dau of Mary and Jonathan, b 14 May 1842, d 2 Nov. 1845.

- 161 HANNAH CECELIA HUNTOON-SAMUELS-IRWIN(8), dau of Mary and Jonathan, b Moline, Ill. 25 Sept. 1845; m first 23 Sept. 1865 Charles F. Samuels, who died early; m second Moline 24 Oct. 1885 H. Stewart Irwin. Stewart took his bride to his Los Gatos, Calif. fruit ranch. The writer has a formal invitation to the wedding, "Saturday evening at Seven O'clock". First marriage one son, John; second marriage no children.
- 162 JOHNNIE SAMUELS(9), only child of Cecelia. J. F. Kinsey used to speak of Johnnie as connected with a carriage factory. Anna Schermerhorn believes it was some place in Iowa. Because of his father's death, Johnnie was raised partly by his grand parents, Mary and Jonathan Huntoon.
- 163 SARAH EMMA HUNTOON-HODGSON(8), dau of Mary and Jonathan, b Moline 1 May 1848; m 13 Nov. 1877 R. W. Hodgson. Lived in Newton, then Kingman, Kans. He was a banker, drank, was mentally cruel to his family. Emma and the two children used to come to Wichita, where they visited the James F. Kinsey family. Finally Emma and the two children left R. W. H. and, at the invitation of her brother (as she said) went back to live in Moline. Children: John, Mary.
- 164 JOHN HODGSON(9) Now nothing can be learned of them.
- 165 MARY GODGSON(9)
- 166 JAMES FREDERICK HUNTOON(8), son of Mary and Jonathan, b 24 Oct. 1852 at Moline; m 2 July 1878 Elizabeth Jamerson. His picture in J. Frank Kinsey's old album shows him well dressed and well fed---but of course his father was a banker. Anna Schermerhorn relates that while he was visiting the Blodgettts in Los Angeles he climbed through the small trap-door into the attic, but on the way down got stuck, had to climb up again and remove most of his clothes before he could make it down. Lived in Moline it is presumed. Two sons:
- 167 _____ HUNTOON(9), son of Frederick.
- 168 _____ HUNTOON(9), son of Frederick.
- 169 MINNIE S. HUNTOON(8) dau of Mary and Jonathan, b Moline 22 July 1861; d 17 March 1863.

It seems strange that, as well known as was Jonathan Huntoon, one should not be able to trace any of his living descendants, if he has any. Descendants of Johnnie Samuels, John and Mary Hodgson and Frederick Huntoon may be living somewhere, perhaps in the Moline-Rock Island area.

CALISTA PADDLEFORD-KINSEY AND DESCENDANTS

- 170 CALISTA PADDLEFORD-KINSEY(7), dau of William and Hannah Paddleford, b Grafton Co., N. H. 1825; d in Iowa Falls sanitarium, Iowa Falls, Iowa 4 July 1887; m Henry Co., Ill. 28 March 1944 Cyrus Kinsey. He b Buckingham, Pa. 29 September. 1817; d near Fulton, Hanson Co. Dak. (now So. Dak.) 2 July 1886, son of Edmund and Elizabeth (Briggs) Kinsey. Both buried Alexandria, So. Dak. cemetery. The family lived in Moline, Ill., where Cyrus had a blacksmith and plow manufacturing shop. During the California gold rush he would shoe horses of those bound for California---the last chance before they crossed the Mississippi and set out over the "Great Plains". Cyrus invented a plow share that would turn the prairie sod. John Deere was then making plows in Grand Detour and claimed the patent. A model of the plow Cyrus had placed in the patent office in Washington. There was a lawsuit and John Deere had more money with which to fight the case, so John Deere won---thus goes the story. Deere wanted Cyrus to go into business with him, but Cyrus didn't like Deere's ethics and refused. Cyrus sold his home and shop to Deere, and that is where Deere's factory now stands. For three years Cyrus manufactured plows in Davenport, Iowa, then moved to Geneseo, Ill. In 1881 he filed on a claim in Dakota, near where Fulton started, where he died. His diary of the venture, 1881-1886, is depressing to read. The Kinsey farm was sold to J. E. Myers and is now the property of A. M. Blumenberg, president of the Fulton state bank. Republicans, Congregationalists. Cyrus came from a long line of Quakers, who came over from Wales and settled near Philadelphia in 1682.

- 171 CYRUS NELSON KINSEY(8), son of above, b Moline 6 July 1845; d Northfield, Minn. 11 April 1903; m Geneseo Ill. 1877 Alice S. Fitch. alists. See genealogy "Stewarts-Dressers-Tafts-Cones," pages 110-130, published 1956. Remains of James F. and Clara Eliza entombed in Angeles Abby (mausoleum), Compton, Calif. Children: Harry, Frank, Charles.
- 173 HARRY NELSON KINSEY(9), son of above, b Princeton, Ill. 14 Dec. 1877; d San Gabriel Valley Hospital, San Gabriel, Calif. 15 May 1948; m Yakima, Wash. 26 Oct. 1910 Gail Victor Rhodes, dau of Lewis and Frances (Imbler) Rhodes. (See genealogy "Rhodes Family in America," by H. J. Rhodes, 1959.) Gail b Maize, Kans., near Wichita, 6 Nov. 1877. She graduated from Fairmount college, Wichita, taught four years in Kansas and four years high schools in the Philippine Islands; returned home to Kansas by way of Asia, Europe and New York, then went on to Yakima, Wash., to be married. She thus encircled the globe. Harry took a two year course in piano and organ tuning and repairing at the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, in 18 months. Followed his profession in Wichita, Birmingham, Ala., and Tacoma, Wash., then spent several years raising apples in the Yakima Valley, Wash., then 14 years developing an avocado grove at Carlsbad, Calif. and seven years keeping hens for eggs in Temple City, Calif., 13 miles from the Los Angeles civic center. The last venture was a very profitable one. (See page 189 of the above genealogy of the Stewart family.) Ashes of Harry N. Kinsey rest in an urn in Angeles Abbey, Compton, Calif., which will also contain the ashes of his wife Gail. She is at present keeping house for Harry's brother Frank. Republicans, Congregationalists. One son.
- 174 NELSON VICTOR KINSEY(10) son of above, b North Prosser, Wash. 2 Aug. 1911; m Encinitas, Calif. 16 Aug 1936 June E. Warren, dau of Edward and Elizabeth (Boersma) Warren. Nelson spent three years at U. C. L. A., worked in Standard Stations at Oceanside and El Centro and for Rohr airplane plant at Chula Vista, Calif. and for 14 years he has been mechanic and foreman working on trucks and cars for the San Diego Gas and Electric Co., San Diego. Res. 1411 Alpine Ave., Chula Vista, Calif. (See Stewart Genealogy, page 256.) One son,
- 175 ROBERT NELSON KINSEY(11), son of above, b Oceanside, Calif. 10 March 1942, Res. Chula Vista, Calif. (See page 308 of Stewart genealogy.)

- 176 FRANK STEWART KINSEY(9), son of James F., b Geneseo, Ill. 12 March 1881. Not Married. Brought up in Plankinton, S. Dakota and Wichita. Three years at Fairmount college, Wichita, taking special college work, not sciences. From Yakima, Wash. in 1918 joined the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture inspection service of fresh fruits and vegetables, inspecting in New York and various other large cities and supervising at shipping point in various states, Washington to Maine, including ten shipping seasons in Miss. The inspection is a service to shippers, buyers, railroads, steamships, the army, navy, etc. for a fee, covering quality, condition, grade, chiefly of carlots. In 1936 assigned to Los Angeles, where retired 1946. Lived in Temple City and Los Angeles until 1958, when moved to Chula Vista, a suburb of San Diego. Republican, Congregationalist. (See page 347 of Stewart genealogy.) His ashes will be placed in the crypt with his father's casket.
- 177 CHARLES EDWARD KINSEY(9), son of James F., b Plankinton, Dak. 17 Feb. 1886; d 30 Aug 1886; buried beside his Kinsey grand parents Alexandria, So Dak.

JAMES H. PADDLEFORD AND DESCENDANTS

- 186 JAMES H. PADDLEFORD(7), son of William and Hannah Paddleford, b North Enfield, N. H. 1828; d Geneseo, Ill. Sept. 1894. Edith Whitted, wife of Arleigh Whitted, sent us from Geneseo the legends on some headstones in the old Hannah Center cemetery. One reads, "Helen Marie Wife of J. H. Paddleford died June 26, 1952, Age 19 Yrs. 7 Mo. 5 D." This appears to mean that James had two wives. He m second Rachel D. Hanna 15 Sept. 1857, dau of John P. Hanna, one of the first settlers of Henry County. She b in Hannah twp. 22 Jan. 1838; d at home of her son Henry W. Paddleford in Lincoln, Neb. 15 March 1906; her body interred in the Hanna cemetery on the farm where she was born, where also her husband James was buried. Kett's History of Henry County, 1877, states "James H. Paddleford, farmer, stock dealer, Sec. 4, P. O. Cleveland, came to Henry Co. in 1837; Dem., Meth.; owns 790 acres of land, value $32,000; has served as assessor, collector, supervisor and town clerk."

Chapman's History of Henry County, 1885, states that James attended school at Enfield, Andover, Colona and one winter at Moline, and was a bright scholar. "He is at present the most extensive agriculturist in the twp. His specialty is shorthorns. He has filled the office of supervisor ten terms. In 1884 he was elected as representative to the 34th assembly of the state of Ill. as a democrat, receiving 13,912 votes. Was a member of committees on mines and mining, roads and bridges, banks and banking, and drainage." Part of his farm was the original farm of this father, William Paddleford. Mrs. Edith Whitted writes from Geneseo that the third generation of the buyer from the Paddlefords is on this farm and that it is in good condition. The present owner is Vernon Jacobson.

When the present writer was four years old, in 1885, while his mother and he were in Geneseo, James Paddleford took the two of us out to his farm in a two or three seated conveyance. The writer remembers how his uncle James stopped his horses and let him get out and pick flowers to his heart's content. Children: William, Mary, James F., Henry, Fred, Allie, Frank.

- 187 JAMES F. PADDLEFORD(8), child of J. H. Paddleford. Legend on headstone: "James F., Son of J. H. and R. D., Mar. 17, 1866, age 2 Yrs."
- 188 WILLIAM H. PADDLEFORD(8), son of James H. Paddleford. Legend on headstone: "William H. Paddleford, Son of J. H. and R. D., Died Oct. 30, 1859." William d earlier than James F.
- 189 MARY PADDLEFORD-DAWES(8), dau of James H. Paddleford. The writer has an account of her wedding from his mother's scrapbook. She m Henry E. Dawes on "Wednesday evening, June 19," at the residence of her father, in the home in Hanna twp, where she was born. She was a graduate of "the Ann Arbor, Mich, schools," and for a time principal of the Colona public schools. The groom was principal of the Geneseo north side school, was a graduate of the Geneseo North-Western Normal. In the list of gifts the following names appear among those of the donors: Paddleford, Huntoon, Stewart, Kinsey, Hodgson, Lieberknecht (newspaper editor), Wiley Whitted, Hanna. At some time later the couple moved to So. Dakota.
- 190 FRED L. PADDLEFORD(8), son of J. H. Paddleford, b Hanna twp. 24 Jan. 1867; d of cerebral hemorrhage at age of 59 years at his home near Genesee Mountain, Golden, Colo. From his obituary: In 1888 he became a teacher in the Ill. State School for Boys. He later studied law in Lincoln and was admitted to the bar. Was in the Spanish American war under Col. Bryan in the third Nebraska infantry. Then engaged in ranching in Wyoming. Came to Golden, Colo. in 1900 as teacher and was appointed as superintendent in 1902 of a state school for boys, which position he held until retirement in 1924. He handled the cases of more than 6,000 boys. "Thousands of letters have been received by Mr. Paddleford from former boys at the school and invariably they ascribe their success in life to the influence which he exerted over them."
- 191 HENRY W. PADDLEFORD(8), son of J. H. P. Lived in Lincoln, Neb. His mother spent her last days there.
- 192 ALLIE H. PADDLEFORD(8), dau of J. H. P., b 16 Dec. 1868; d 24 Oct. 1890, cause being "congestion of the brain," a sudden death which came on while she was at the supper table. Her obituary states, "Her life each day was such that her death was simply stepping out of her earthly home into her more beautiful home in heaven."
- 193 FRANK H. PADDLEFORD(8), son of James H. Paddleford. Lived in Wyoming.

It seems strange that, as well known as was James H. Paddleford, one should not be able to trace any of his living descendants, if he has any. It is known that Mary Paddleford-Dawes moved to So. Dakota, Frank moved to Wyoming and Henry lived in Lincoln, Neb. We have sent to the postmaster of Lincoln two letters to be given to any two Paddlefords, with enclosed stamped and addressed return envelopes, but nothing has come of them. This is a common practice of genealogists. We have found no photograph of James H. Paddleford.

To both Nellie and Joseph much credit is due. Though under handicap, each has depended only upon his or her own ability. When Nellie was three years old both of her feet were cut off by a mowing machine which an older sister was using in tall weeds, so that she could not see her little sister. Her father, who was in the field at the time, always took the blame, so that many persons believed it was he who was running the mower. Nellie was fitted with artificial feet and she claims that she could do anything that a normal child could do. At the time of her marriage she was working in the Mulvane State Bank. Joseph himself had lost both of his limbs in a railroad accident. He worked for the Fit Well Artificial Limb Co., had also been a shoe-maker. Both claim they have had a full and happy life together. Protestants, democrats.
